JULY 2010

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Greetings Lewiston-Porter Alumni and Friends,

Reunions are bringing many Lew-Port alumni back together this summer. Always the most popular of all our activities coming together person to person or even electronically is an exciting opportunity to reconnect, share memories, revisit the community, and perhaps consider ways individually, or as a class, we can “give back” to our Alma Matter in some way. The Alumni Association and Lew-Port Schools are supporting reunion planners in many ways to help make the reunions a success. By now many of you have received the updated “Lew-Port Alumni Directory 2010” and CD. We are proud of the teamwork between the Alumni Association and School to produce this excellent directory published by Harris Company.

Commencement June 25th was exciting as always and provided an opportunity to “mint” 198 new members of the Alumni Association with welcome aboard letters and membership certificates presented during the joyous event at Artpark.

Congratulations! More congratulations to the six winners of $1,000 scholarships sponsored by the Alumni Association directly and in collaboration with families and classes. Details are elsewhere in the newsletter.

More congratulations to the eleven teachers awarded Mini-grants to support their creative classroom teaching, again made possible by your Alumni Association.

The Second Annual Jason Raby Memorial 5K Run and Walk is on tap for August 5th; another opportunity for the Alumni Association to honor one of our own and the Lew-Port family. Please support this event with your individual or corporate sponsorship and please do come out to run, walk, cheer or just enjoy the festivities.

Again in 2010 we will be supporting the very important Freshman Orientation for Lew-Port Class of 2014 students and families. And, please come by our LPAA booth at the Peach Festival September 10-12 to peruse year books, chat with fellow alumni, and enjoy the festivities of this great community event.

Finally, the Alumni Association will proudly honor four new “Distinguished Alumni” during events at the school during Homecoming Weekend October 1-2, 2010; another opportunity to revisit your Alma Matter and cheer for our proud past and present “Lancers.”

Jack James '58 President

DEAR ALUMNI,

Dear Alumni,

Wow another school year comes to an end and planning continues for our September opening. I hope your summer is going well and most importantly you have been able to stay cool and comfortable in this heat and humidity. Isn't this the kind of weather that makes a memorable summer? I am pleased to say that all students that were eligible to graduate in the Class of 2010 were able to walk across the stage and receive their high school diploma. The ceremony at Artpark, on a beautiful June evening, went off in fine fashion. The class of 2010 was a special one. As you may be aware, the class of 2010 lost one of its favorite sons with the tragic passing of Jonathan Miller. Jonathan was a special person, a lancer through and through. He touched the lives of many of his classmates and his friendships cut across all lines. The ceremony at Artpark was able to fittingly memorialize his life and his time at Lewiston - Porter High School. During the ceremony, we were able to present his family with his diploma, a diploma that recognized his hard work and dedication to his school and community. His life, the way he carried himself, the way he cared for all that he came in contact with, will be a lighthouse, a model for living life, as his classmates and friends move through their own lives. At the close of the ceremony we continued the tradition of inducting all members of the graduating class into the Alumni Association. Doug Diez, Class of 1963, did a great job and his remarks to the class were perfect. All involved with evening remarked on the beauty of the ceremony and inspiration it offered.

Bruce Sutherland,
Class of 1964

Bruce's goal "to be the best steward of tax dollars ...keep Lewiston moving forward while improving our quality of life."

Getting to Know Your LPAA Board Members

Bruce Sutherland graduated from Lew-Port in 1964. While at Lew-Port, Bruce played football, basketball, and baseball and was vice-president of his senior class. He played basketball and golf at NCCC and SUC @ Geneseo. Bruce spent 26 years in the United States Air Force having served in various command positions and retiring as a Colonel. He earned a masters degree in management from USC and is a graduate of Air War College. As a pilot, he flew c-130's, B-52's B-1. After serving our country, Bruce went to work flying 737's for Southwest Airlines and retired as a captain in 2006.

Village of Lewiston trustee Bruce R. Sutherland, who was appointed to replace trustee Mike Marra in January was elected as trustee in June.

"I have served our country and local communities all my life. I have served as president of the Air Force Association of Abilene, Texas and on the board of directors of the Abilene Zoo."

Bruce lives in the village with his wife, the former Jackie Foss, also of Lewiston. They have three children and three grandchildren. "We returned to Lewiston in 2002 and fell in love with our village again. The progress that had been made over the years really impressed us and encouraged me to become an active part of this vibrant community." They are members of Messiah Lutheran Church where they were married 42 years ago this coming August.

Since returning to Lewiston he has served on the Village Historic Preservation/Planning Commission and is a trustee and vice president of the Historical Association of Lewiston and in charge of the restoration of the Piper Law Office for the Village. He is serving on the board of directors of Niagara Frontier Country club as the grounds chairman.

"I look forward to working with all residents, businesses and visitors to improve our quality of life while preserving our past. I am very visible in Lewiston and welcome a chance to hear your concerns and recommendations. Although I don't have a web site, you can find me most mornings in the Orange Cat Coffee Company or on my porch in the late afternoons."

In an editorial in the Lewiston-Porter Sentinel, Ken Barnes described Bruce by saying he "works smart and hard," and will continue to be a "good neighbor and friend" who "listens" to the people of the Village of Lewiston.

Bruce has already showed the characteristics as a active board member to LPAA. We wish Bruce much success in his newest career as a Village of Lewiston Trustee.

Multi-Years Lew-Port

Reunion Weekend

Donald Hoolihan, Class of 1974, started a Lew-Port Alumni website that has over 600 members with Lew-Port graduates from multi-year. A review of the accomplishments of the Class of 2010 points to the tremendous academic excellence that is the hallmark of the tradition at Lewiston-Porter High School. Our school motto is "Aiming Higher". The class of 2010 embodies that motto to its fullest. Our valedictorian, Jenna Brydges, who spent her entire senior year studying in China, offered an inspiring message to her classmates. Her year in China was a result of our growing International Studies program. Jenna had traveled to our sister school, No.2 High School Tianjin, China. Her experiences at No.2 High School and hosting Chinese students inspired her to pursue further study in China. She will be off to SUNY Albany to pursue a career in International Business. Our salutatorian Jenna Van Dusen was the archetypal representation of the student athlete. She excelled in the classroom and in gymnastics, soccer and track and field. Her message to her classmates focused on the importance of family and community and set a great tone to all in attendance. Jenna is off to Ithaca College to pursue a career in science. This class of 2010 will see its members attending Ivy League schools, all of our nations Service Academies and many of the top private and public schools throughout the United States.

We wish them all much luck and success as they make their way in life.

Planning is underway for the 2010-11 school year. This upcoming school year we will kick off our Academy of International Business and Finance. The AIBF has been in development for the past two years. It represents our move a school within a school model for instructional delivery. The AIBF came about as we developed international partnerships with schools around the world. Students in the AIBF will begin a three year program that will allow them to explore through classroom study, independent study, student exchange, and career internship the world of International Business. The students will end with an endorsement on the diploma that is recognized by the National Academy Foundation, Niagara University and colleges and universities around the country. We hope that this program will add another component to our academic offerings in an effort to prepare our students for the rigors of 21st century world of work.

I am also excited to inform our alumni that again we will be hosting a teacher from our sister school No. 2 High School Tianjin, China. Her name is Zhang Li. She will be attached to our Language department and will be teaching mandarin Chinese to teachers and students at the high school and the middle school. At the same time we will be sending our instrumental music teacher, Kevin Duncan, to teach and study in China. This marks the second year of teacher exchange with No. 2 High School. This unique opportunity continues to enhance the teaching and learning at Lewiston-Porter High School. Beyond this teacher exchange we will again be hosting and exchanging students with our all sister programs in China, Argentina, France and Germany.

On August 18th and 19th we welcome the incoming class of 2014 to Lewiston-Porter High School with our freshman orientation program. The Alumni Association continues to offer extensive support for this excellence program. We are most grateful for the financial and manpower support on those days.

Well school opens on Tuesday, September 7th. We will hit the ground running as we usher in another exciting school year. I am very much looking forward to the Distinguished Alumni program at the end of September during the homecoming week. This signature association program creates a great connection for our students to the past, present and future of Lewiston-Porter High School. Please know that for the upcoming school year or at anytime we welcome all alumni to stop in for a visit or attend an athletic, music or drama.

Take care. Go Lancers! Paul Casseri

Alumni Briefs:

David Clawson was in town during May for a mini class reunion. He challenged Pat Krawczyk to put together a team of players from the 80's to take on the current Lew-Port basketball players. The team of Alan Elia, Matt Bradshaw, Lenny Palumbo, Pat Krawczyk, and Clawson held high school star, Marc Morreale scoreless to win 35-15. David then went on to play golf at the Niagara Falls Country Club scoring an ace on the 13th 180 yard hole.

Don Felice and Bike Boy Racing in conjunction with the Kiwanis Club of Lewiston, is slated to run the first-ever citizens road race at the 2010 Niagara County Peach Festival. The 26-mile road race will take place on September 12th. "Pro bike racing is coming to Lewiston," said Don emphatically. Bike Boy Racing has also gained a corporate sponsor. PayPal, Inc.

Bruce Sutherland and Terry Colesano were newly elected to their offices of Trustee and Mayor respectively in June. It has been a busy year for Terry as he also has a newly published book, "Miss Purdy and Me: Tales of a Lewiston boyhood."

Rachel Goodman, Class of 2009, opened her shop, Bake It," on Center Street in June. Rachel studies baking and pastry arts at NCCC. The shop offers retro and vintage aprons for children and adults, baking kits to make fancy tie-dye cupcakes and many unique baking supplies. She would like to someday expand and move to a larger location. For now, she is nestled between the Village Wine Shop and Ashker's. Rachel participated in NU Young Entrepreneurs Academy. Stop in and say hello to Rachel.

Notes: Thank you to Lewiston-Porter and Nicole Krawczyk for the help in publishing the Alumni newsletter.

Lew-Port Honors Graduates

Distinguished Alumni Induction at Lewiston-Porter is scheduled for Thursday, September 30th.

This is Homecoming Weekend at Lew-Port

Winning the LP Hall of Fame Golf Tournament two man scramble was the three man team of Paul Casseri, High School Principal; Scott Townsend, Athletic Director; and Randy Lombardo, Class of 1989 & LP Elementary teacher.

Lewiston-Porter will be honoring graduates in two separate events this fall. On Homecoming Weekend, LPAA will be inducting four alumni as Distinguished Alumni. This is the second induction. receiving honors are Susan Geissler, Lew Howell, Bruce Lund and Tom Masiello.

Susan Geissler is an accomplished artist who is known internationally. Susan work "Freedom Crossing" is featured at Water Street Park honoring the underground railroad.

Lew Howell has achieved stellar professional success in academia, foreign service, and international relations for over 48 years. He is currently Sr. Advisor for Methodology for The PRS Group, a political risk consulting firm. Lou has authored ten books and over 200 book chapters and professional journal articles. He is Editor and Writer for USA Today Magazine.

Bruce Lund was described as a toy maker, writer, inventor, and human being extraordinaire! Bruce and his company have invented some of the hottest toys and games on the market. He has been a constant champion for over 25 years in the toy industry winning many honors.

Thomas J. Masiello is a 1981 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy as a distinguished graduate. As command pilot he has logged 3300 plus flying hours in more than 20 different aircraft. He has served as an experimental test pilot and test squadron commander. Tom is now Deputy Assistant Secretary for Plans, Programs and Operation & Operations Bureau of Political-Military Affairs in D.C. as a Brigadier General.

The Annual Lew-Port Hall of Fame Golf Tournament was played in July. The committee is hoping for a larger group of golfers next year so that the tournament can be held on a Monday. Six athletes were named and one coach for the annual induction ceremony held during the James Walker Basketball Tournament. The athletes are Jane Baker (1983), Patrick Gray (1997), Shawn Mathews (1997), Monica Polka (1997), Matthew Gitterman (1999), Rosie Luzak (2000), and Coach Jim Claus.

Our Local Graduates at Work

In 2009, while walking Center Street, Lewiston and Main Street, Youngstown for sponsors for the Jason Raby 5K, I was very impressed with the number of Lew-Port graduates that were now in business in the local area. So the idea arose that it would be interesting to get input from them regarding Lew-Port and having a business in your home town.

I realize that some take over family operated businesses while others learn the business from the ground up while working as students or entry-level employees. I won't try to break this down except in an area that I am very familiar with and that is the Tower farms. When Lewiston-Porter began in 1953, there was a Future Farmers of America group at the school. Mr. French was the adviser with club members: Bill Vrooman, Peter and Bill Tower, Jim Harbison, Bob Brolinski, Harold Shippy, Kirk and Jim Hastings, Curt Hopkins to name a few. Of these early students interested in farming, I know of only the Tower and Shippy family that are still farming. Neil Shippy, Harold's brother, and Dan Tower, Peter's brother are running the family farms. Bill Tower's son, David, class of 1987, has a 220 acre fruit farm with some of his produce being sold in his roadside market, Lakeside Market on Lake Road. David's cousin, Robin Shear Ross is the proprietor of Arrowhead Winery a family owned and run business with her husband, Duncan and children, John, James and Grace. Robin credited her educational experience at Lew-Port and college as enabling her to open her mind and broaden her horizons to set her on a path to owning and operating a winery. Tom Tower who was featured in an earlier article has a farmer's market on Lockport Road. Tom has been a big proponent of the One Hundred Mile source for food for your family. In this endeavor he was instrumental in starting the Elmwood-Bidwell Market in Buffalo to bring fresh grown produce to the families living in that area.

Although I didn't get the response I hoped for from a questionnaire I put out to alumni that I knew had their own businesses, I also realize that we live in very busy society with lots of demands on our time. I will share with you some of the highlights from my questionnaire. The questions asked were:

Name a teacher or coach or club that impacted your school years...

A favorite Lew-Port memory...

What brought your business or office to the Lew-Port area?

Do you have Lew-Port students or graduates working for you? If so, how many?

Advantages you find working in your community?

Any other information you would like to share...

What really comes out when reading their answers is the closeness of this community where friendships have carried over from high school days. There is a respect for the Lew-Port school system and a desire for their children to have the same experiences while going to Lew-Port. Luckily, I got at least one response from each decade.

Teachers mentioned from the '50's were Mrs. Thorn, Mr. Yates, Mrs. Haskell, Mr. Gager, and Mrs. Potter. In the 60's Mr. McCalister, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Thorn, in the 70's Ms. Northrup, Mrs. Caven, Mr. Scalsa, Mrs. Morgan, Mr. Schreiber, Mr. Internicola, and Mr. Walker, in the 80's Mr. Hogan, Mr. Presuti, Mr. Beachy, Mr. Geiben, Mr. Deiz, in the 90's Mr. Townsend and Mrs. Mathews and in the 2000's Mrs. Krawczyk. Marc Niccola felt that his elementary teachers had a greater impact on him. Marc's wife Shannon Evert Niccola is an elementary teacher in the Intermediate Education Center and this past year my granddaughter, Alicia Previte was lucky to be in her class and will loop with her next year. I am sure that there were many others who were that special teacher for Lew-Port alumni.

Some favorite Lew-Port memories, the most unusual coming from Robert Reese, Class of 1956. He wrote about putting Gary Chorman's sports car in the elevated garden at the front entrance to the high school. This would be what is now called the Intermediate Education Center or in earlier years South Elementary. I heard another high school prank from the 70's at a School Board meeting honoring teachers who were retiring from the system. The comment was made do you know that a cow won't go down stairs? It seems that the class of 1971 not only got a cow to the second floor but placed used tires over all the lamp posts. Of course responders from recent years did not include pranks as part of a fond memory. Our school system treats these actions much more seriously than it did decades ago. Most of the memories are of the type that parents would hope their children have: senior prom, Homecoming, sporting events, being involved in athletics, and vaudeville night. Robin Shear Ross mentioned the annual football game between junior and senior girls. In the 80's, this was played at Academy Park in Lewiston with the boys as coaches and referees. This year I know it was played at the Lew-Port stadium. This was also something that my four children participated in and was a right of passage. For Jay Russell, class of 1993, it was tying the school high jump record at 6'3" in his senior year.

Michael Vitich, class of 1977, besides football and wrestling he mentioned student council and being the class president his junior and senior year. Mike now is the owner of Compu-mail where he currently employs five Lew-Port graduates. My take on this is that those leadership roles in high school paid dividends in his adult life. Mike wrote, "Actually, owning a business in New York is a significant challenge. Good thing my Lew-Port background has given me the tools to overcome the challenges." With two daughters attending Lew-Port, Mike wrote, "We are fortunate to be Lew-Port alumni! The tradition of excellence needs to be sustained." With four grandchildren attending Lew-Port, I totally agree with this statement and that is one reason I became involved in the Lew-Port Alumni Association.

Robert Reese and Don Finkle, Jr are the current owners of RCR Yachts, Inc. Bob stated that he had a great opportunity in 1969 to take over a small boat business from Mr. and Mrs. Beckman Fairbanks. I have watched this business grow in Youngstown and now it is located on Lockport Street across from the Red Brick with a large showroom and an office complex upstairs. They currently employ ten graduates but over the years many dozens have worked at RCR Yachts.

Dan Andrews, has been in business for over 50 years as a barber in Youngstown. His memories at Lew-Port involve Harry Blakeslee, Senior High principal who told him if he went hunting with Bob Moon and Jim Kay not to come back to school. Dan took him seriously and went hunting and then on to barber school. He still has a chair from Cooper's shop to this day. What he likes best about working in Youngstown is serving the community and keeping up with the local residents.

Jay Coppins is in a four generation family owned business. The last three generations have owned and operated Coppins at 6th and Center Street. There are currently seven Lew-Port graduates or students working at the garage. What I have noticed is that alumni not only work in the community they also give back to the community. Jay is one of the baseball coaches on my grandson, Frank Previte's baseball team. Jay wrote, "I was able to help out with both the 10 and 20 year class reunions because of my location and local connections. Many of the friends I made at Lew-Port are still my closest friends and our families spend a lot of time together." The advantages he finds working in the community are that the same people you see spending money with your business are the same people his children share the baseball diamonds and soccer field with. People in this area take pride in it and that overall leads to a successful business.

Another familiar name in the Lewiston business community is Hibbard. Kristen Hibbard Trunzo owns and operates one of the children of the Lew-Port areas favorite place to shop—Artzee. Kristen started this business because of a need in the area for something to spark the imagination of children. She feels she has a first-hand knowledge of what the residents are looking for and what the community needs to purchase without leaving the village. When I stopped in the get a birthday, I noticed on the window a picture of the artist of the month, Breanna Whitehead. She is the daughter of Pat Whitehead, Class of 1978.

Marc Niccola and Jay Russell operate Main Street Gas & Grill. These two young entrepreneurs not only support LPAA and other venues in the area but their pizzeria is very friendly to the young people of the village. It reminds me of Jimmy's when I was a teenager in Youngstown as long as you behaved you were welcome to come in and hang out with your friends. My grandsons, Donald and Michael Allender are frequent patrons and like to meet their friends at Main Street. They employ 10-12 Lew-Port graduates and students. Jay wrote, it was a logical idea to start the business here as he always planned on living and raising his family here. The advantages of working in this community are the friendly people that take pride in supporting local businesses. Marc gave me an "A-OK in his book!" And that is exactly how I feel about these two young men and the Main Street Gas & Grill.

Jason Raby Memorial Run 5K Run & Walk

August 5th, 2010

When the LPAA decided they wanted to host a 5K run to benefit the LPAA programs, it was thought it would be very appropriate to make this run a memorial run. In talking to Rick Sweeney, he said, "there was one Lew-Port runner that immediately came to mind...Jason Raby."

Jason earned ten varsity letters during his Lew-Port career. He ran cross country, track and played basketball. His 4 x 800 team went to states his senior year with each runner running a 1/2-mile leg. Jason graduated in June 2001 and was furthering his education at Buffalo State where he again ran track and cross country. At the age of twenty-five, Jason tragically died while playing basketball at Niagara University.

When Coach Harry Lawler was asked to reflect on Jason, he said, "Jason was a dedicated, hard working, quiet, respectful, young man."

LPAA wishes to honor Jason's memory through our Jason Raby Memorial 5K run and walk. His sister, Jennifer, Class of 2009 said, "Jason was always there to support me in my athletic endeavors." LPAA would now like to support Jason's memory with our 5K run.

Winners of Alumni Scholarships

Emma Besaw, Gurpratap Singh and Kelsey Sargent

LPAA Scholarship Awards

At the Senior Recognition Night June 2, 2010 Emma Besaw and Gurpratap Singh were presented scholarships awarded by Lewiston-Porter Alumni Association. The purpose of the scholarships is to honor deserving Lew-Port Class of 2010 graduates and help defray their continuing education expenses. LPAA Board Member Douglas Diez presented the $1,000 scholarship awards recognizing each winner's outstanding academic achievements, extracurricular activities, and community service. Twenty-one students applied making selection very challenging, given the noteworthy accomplishments documented in applicants' transcripts and letters of recommendation from both faculty and community leaders. This is the third year our Lew-Port Alumni Association has made scholarship awards at the High School. LPAA plans to continue offering scholarships to Lew-Port Class of 2011.

CLASS OF 1958 SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

James Oddy, Kelsey Sargent and Janelle Johnson were recipients of the Class of 1958 Memorial Scholarship Awards. The winners were selected from among 18 highly qualified applicants from Lew-Port. Representing the Class of 1958, Jack James presented each winner with a $1,000 scholarship, Letter of Commendation, and framed Certificate of Award. Class of 1958 has awarded 31 scholarships to Lew-Port graduates beginning in 1994 and plans to continue the tradition in 2011.

James Oddy with his parents, Tina Stephenson Oddy, Class of 1983 and Tom, Class of 1977. James will be attending NCCC.

Ann Johnston and Adam Swift

Adam Swift won The Lou Corriere Scholarship, The Coach's Scholarship, and the All-Sports Boosters Scholarship. Adam was a stellar swimmer, holding school records in the one hundred free, four hundred freestyle relay, and two hundred freestyle relay and qualified for the Empire State Games. He was captain on the swimming and diving team for each of the past three seasons, a New York State Scholar Athlete and an All-American. Adam earned six varsity letters in swimming. He plans on attending Canisius College majoring in Athletic Training/ Sports Medicine. The coach's scholarships are maintained through the generosity of alumni.

MARGARET TOWER JAMES FAMILY SCHOLARSHIP

Lauren Conti received the Margaret Tower James Family Scholarship at Senior Recognition Night June 2, 2010. Peggy Tower Shear and Janet James Hallahan made the presentation of a $1,000 scholarship recognizing Ms. Conti's community service, academic achievement, and extra-curricular activities at Lew-Port. This is the second year that the Tower and James families have recognized a Lew-Port graduate planning to pursue a degree in education. The family looks forward to continuing the scholarship in 2011.

Carole Masiello, Class of 1985, sent me this picture of Emerson House her Bed and Breakfast in Youngstown. It is located at the corner of Third and Lockport Streets.
